INDonesian Resource grAmmar (INDRA)

- The first broad-coverage, open-source computational grammar for Indonesian, modelled in Head Driven Phrase Structure Grammar (HPSG) and Minimal Recursion Semantics (MRS)
- Created and developed using tools from Deep Linguistic Processing with HPSG Initiative (DELPH-IN)
- Has a treebank called JATI, the text is from a subset of dictionary definition sentences: Kamus Besar Bahasa Indonesia (KBBI) Fifth Edition
- Indonesian POS Tagger (for unknown word handling), transfer grammars for machine translation
- `github.com/davidmoeljadi/INDRA` (MIT license)
- 2,057 types, 16,751 lexical items, 63 rules, 12 orules, 168 features (as of 23 Jan 2018)

Linguistic phenomena implemented in INDRA

- nouns
  - noun subcategorization
  - clitics
  - determiners
  - numerals and classifiers
  - reduplication
  - relative clause
- verbs
  - verb subcategorization
  - inflectional rules: active and passive voice
  - auxiliaries
- adjectives and prepositions
- copula constructions
- compounds

JATI Treebank

- The Indonesian word for "teak", the national tree of Indonesia
- J... A... Treebank for Indonesian ??
- 2,003 KBBI dictionary definition sentences related to food, drinks, spices, edible things were extracted and edited
  - total number of words: 23,129 words
  - shortest definition: 1 word
  - longest definition: 51 words
 - average: 11.5 words

JATI Treebank

- 3rd stage (18.3% → 34.8%): lexical acquisition (words)
- 10th stage (62.5% → 84.5%): adding homographs and compounds
- 62.6% (1,253 out of 2,003 sentences) have correct syntactic trees and semantics

Evaluation

	Jun 16, 2016	Aug 7, 2017	Jan 23, 2018
MRS	65/172 (38%)	95/172 (55%)	122/172 (70.9%)
KBBI (JATI)	—	500/2004 (25%)	1692/2003 (84.4%)

More phenomena to be covered:

- possessor topic-comment relative clauses with many relative clauses
- equative, comparative, and superlative adjectives
- coordinate constructions with constituents having different POS
- and many more
